PACIFIC ARM OF DEFENSE WEAK, COOLIDGE TOLD

Hale Points Need of Better Naval Bases.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Wasspott, Mass., July 20.—(Special.)—The imperative necessity of the need of the American system of naval defense is the Pacific was urged upon President Coolidge today by Senator Fred Hale (Rep., Maine), chairman of the senate committee on naval affairs.

The major recommendations submitted by Senator Hale, as the result of his (Central News Photo) observations on a tour of Hawaiian and Pacific coast naval establishments from which he has just returned, were:

1. That a naval base of the first rank be established at Alameda, in San Francisco bay, there being now no base on the Pacific coast capable of supplying and repairing the fleet in time of war or accommodating the entire fleet even in time of peace.

2. That Pearl Harbor in the Hawaiian Islands be developed into an adequate naval base by the deepening of the entrance channel sufficiently to allow ingress of our largest battleships, the dredging of the inner anchorage, and the construction of a new dry dock capable of accommodating warships of the greatest draft.

Coolidge gives attentive ear. The President assured the senator that he would give the recommendations the most serious consideration, remarking that he had been studying the question of our Pacific defense for some time.

"The fact is," said Senator Hale after his call at White Court, "we have only the beginning of a naval base in the Hawaiian Islands, and in my talk with the President I emphasized the steps that should be taken at the earliest possible moment to remedy the situation."

"What is the value of a naval base harbor which our battleships cannot get into? The present entrance channel of Pearl Harbor is too shallow for our battleships, which it was necessary to anchor outside in the open sea after the recent maneuvers in the Hawaiian Islands."

Dredging of Pearl Harbor. "For the dredging of this channel $10,000,000 has been authorized but not appropriated yet, and that appropriation should be made at the next session of congress. To complete the dredging of the entire harbor, $25,000,000 more will be required. We have a dry dock there but our largest ships could not get into it if crippled in battle."

"In these respects Pearl Harbor is more of a liability than an asset, but when properly developed it will be a base which will make our country impregnable to attacks from the west."

The senator said he had an engineer from the University of Hawaii examine the empty Doherty oil tanks at Pearl Harbor, which are rusting from want of painting the outcome of the navy scandal litigation. The engineer pronounced the rust largely mill scale resulting from washing the tanks with water. The senator said the rust was not deep and that the corrosion had ceased.

Need Base at Alameda. "We ought to have a naval base on the Pacific coast comparable to Norfolk on the Atlantic," the senator continued. "We have no adequate base there now, as our fleet has outgrown that island. I am in favor of the establishment of a real base at Alameda without abandoning Mare Island, which can still be used for subsidiary purposes. If the Pacific coast senators and congressmen will get together the Alameda plan can be put through. There ought to be no jealousy in a matter like this, which means providing adequate protection for the whole west coast."

The navy department and a special committee have urged the construction of the Alameda project as a vital feature of naval defense, but it has been defeated by congressmen aiming to compel the further development of Mare Island, which has been pronounced officially incapable of expansion commensurate with the needs of our present day navy.

IRONING OUT HIS TROUBLES

EX-TENANT AND FRIEND MURDER LANDLORD'S KIN

An evicted tenant and his friend expressed their disapproval of the landlord, Demer Alley, and his cousin, Adri Geoffrey, with bullets on an Argo street corner last night. Both men were taken to the Argo hospital. Geoffrey died.

Argo police under Capt. Michael Moran and highway deputies commanded by Lieut. Leroy Davidson, started a search for Alush Emen, the tenant, and a man known only as Muharin. Sergeants Gannet and Mulickay of the highway force found them on a prairie near the Harbor belt line railroad at 63d street, and after a pistol battle, arrested them. Muharin escaped but is believed to have been wounded.

According to Ally, he ordered Emen, a grocer, from a building when he failed to pay his rent. The grudge dated from that time. All the men involved are residents of Argo.

BANDITS RAIDING AUTOISTS SHOOT AND KILL DEPUTY

Springfield, Ill., July 20.—Two youthful bandits, after a series of holdups on the hard road surrounding Millwood and Virden, wound up their terrorizing of motorists late tonight by killing Deputy Sheriff William Barnes and seriously wounding his wife, Ethel.

After robbing a number of automobiles of their money and exchanging machines with each victim, they drove into a garage owned by Barnes at Millwood and called for gasoline. Barnes noticed the machine belonged to a friend, but did not know it was stolen. He was about to arrest them when they drew guns and commanded him to hold up his hands. He reached for his revolver and drew a volley of shots from the bandits. He was mortally wounded, but lived long enough to empty his gun at the men. Mrs. Barnes was accidentally shot while standing in the doorway of the garage.

Tell Penalties, Balk Crime, Crowe Urges

"Crime and Its Cure" was the subject of a speech yesterday by State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe before summer school students at the Northwestern university. More judges are needed in the criminal courts and there should be more publicity concerning convictions, he declared.

Chief Justice Jacob Hopkins and Judge Thomas J. Lynch, who becomes chief justice in September, agreed that the press in stressing convictions and sentences imposed may spread fear among potential criminals.

What Day in Courts Showed. The various branches of the Criminal court were visited yesterday and these records obtained:

Before Chief Justice Jacob H. Hopkins: Ralph Fuller, a 17 year old colored boy, under indictment for burglary, offered to plead guilty if the felony were waived. Assistant State's Attorney Justin McCarthy consented. The evidence was that the boy had stolen a suit of clothes and an overcoat. He got four months in the Bridewell and a fine of $1 and costs.

Edward Grossman, who said he was pastor of a colored church, had nearly 100 members of his congregation present to testify to his good character. He admitted stealing $40 from a cash drawer in the office of the Betty Rose Candy Manufacturing company. He got three months in the Bridewell and a fine of $100.

Quick Action in Court. Before Judge Thomas J. Lynch: Joseph Kantner, 1600 Plisk street, was charged with attacking his 13 year old daughter, Emily, April 21. In thirty minutes yesterday Assistant State's Attorney Clarence Nelson had picked a jury, presented his evidence and closed his case. The jury quickly returned a verdict of guilty. Judge Lynch imposed sentence of one to twenty years in the penitentiary.

Before Judge Charles Williams: Assistant State's Attorney William McGinnin was selecting a jury to try Alma Anderson, colored, for murder. Before Judge Homer Wells: Assistant State's Attorney Emmett Byrnes and Eugene Sullivan were selecting a jury for the retrial of John Melsemer, who on Feb. 6, 1923, killed Joseph Schiesinger. On the first trial Melsemer was convicted and sentenced to be hanged.

Earlier in the day Ny Ah Joe received sentence of 14 years imprisonment for killing Ow Lin Oak. Judge John F. McGoorty's court was not in session, he being in Europe on vacation. Judge William J. Lindsey had been transferred to the city branch of the Circuit court, so his former courtroom was idle. Judge George Kersten is ill and his place had been taken for a time by Judge Harry Fisher, who in turn gave his place to Judge Kichham Scanlan, who is now on his vacation. Judge Harry B. Miller will take his place when the fall term starts.

In the county building, where five judges had been hearing emergency cases, only one was doing so yesterday. Judge Emanuel Eller. He had two criminal trials.

George Kwiatkowski got 30 days in the Bridewell and $1 fine for assault with intent to commit murder. Harry Dravitts got 1 to 14 years for rape. Judge Timothy D. Hurley, William N. Gennell, Joseph B. David and William V. Brothers were on vacation. Some of the assistant state's attorneys also are on vacations.

Yellow Kid Talks Sixteen Men Free in Gambling Case

Joseph "Yellow Kid" Well, of the smooth tongue and resplendent dress, talked sixteen men charged with gambling free in Judge Francis Borrelli's court yesterday. One of the men was Thomas Flattery, house detective in the Shenandoah hotel, which is owned by the K&M and in which the game was raided Sunday morning by Town Hall police. The defendants and Well each bought $5 worth of tickets to the police field meet after the discharge had been entered.

OPENS WAY FOR TREATY PARLEY, BRIAND STATES

French Hurry Army Out of Ruhr.

PARIS, July 20.—(AP)—After the departure of German Ambassador Von Hoesch, from the foreign office where he delivered Germany's reply to the French government on the security pact, M. Briand, the French foreign minister, said:

"In my personal opinion there is absolutely nothing in the German note which stands in the way of a satisfactory settlement."

The outlook in official circles is regarded optimistically, for not only is the German attitude on the security question as outlined in the note better than was expected, but Ambassador Von Hoesch in the course of his talk with M. Briand intimated that the German government intended to satisfy the demands of the ambassador's council's note on disarmament.

CREDITS U. S. BANKER

BY HENRY WALES.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
(Copyright, 1925, By The Chicago Tribune.)
PARIS, July 20.—A miracle happened today in the French and German relations, the state of which appeals peace or war in Europe. It now looks like peace.

The French army began to speed up the evacuation of the Ruhr and the German ambassador to Paris delivered a new German note concerning the proposed security pact between France, England, Germany and Belgium, that proved to be amazingly moderate and conciliatory.

In well informed diplomatic circles, the explanation for this miraculous improvement in the relations between the two countries was the conviction that Benjamin Strong, president of the United States Federal Reserve bank system, and Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, who have been in Berlin for several weeks, have used the financial club on Germany's head and threatened to refuse further credits until the latter showed a reasonable spirit in these important negotiations.

Germany Asks no Concessions.

In the note the German government agrees to negotiate within the frame laid down in the last French note. Germany does not demand the slightest concession in the way of German disarmament, evacuation of Cologne, nor an international peace conference, but it does ask explanations particularly of the question of arbitration in case of frontier disputes, saying the Versailles treaty guarantees the western frontiers, while there is no guarantee of the eastern frontiers.

To show its desire to hasten the good will, the French government not only evacuated the Ruhr several weeks ahead of the schedule, but also has agreed to evacuate the three strategic Rhine towns, Ruhrort, Duisberg and Düsseldorf, which were occupied in 1921.

Expect Early Conference.

(Copyright, 1925, By The New York Times.)
LONDON, July 20.—A copy of the German reply to the French security note was delivered to Foreign Minister Chamberlain by the German ambassador tonight. No statement was made here as to the details of the note, but it is generally believed that it opens the way to a conference next month. Reports reaching London tonight from Paris indicate that the French government takes this view of the reich's communication.

Considering that England is anxious for the conference, it seems that there is every reason to believe that the conference will be summoned in Brussels some time during the middle of August.

Want Germany in League.

The present British government bears the responsibility of having torpedoed the Geneva protocol drafted at last year's league assembly, and the fact that Austen Chamberlain is anxious to bring forth some substitute at the coming assembly helps to explain his ardent desire to make progress on the Rhine pact between now and September, which will open the way for German accession to the league in September.

In common tonight, Austen Chamberlain said that while the dominions are not being consulted in the security negotiations, they have been kept informed of all developments.

Miss Litsinger and Guests See Escort Held Up

Miss Edwina Litsinger and two young women guests from Bay City, Mich., stood on the porch of the Litsinger home at 1400 North State parkway last night and saw two well dressed slickup men thrust pistols against John B. Kohler, who was leaving after having taken them for a ride, and force him to drive away rapidly.

It was the second such experience within a month. Miss Litsinger, who is a daughter of Edward R. Litsinger, a member of the board of review. On June 23, Steve Paddock had just told her good night when two men stepped forward and relieved him of his automobile and money.

Student of U. of P.

Kohler, a son of Frank W. Kohler of the firm of Kohler Brothers, electrical engineers at 410 North Michigan avenue, resides at the Belden hotel. He is a student at the University of Pennsylvania, and is spending the summer at home.

While Miss Litsinger and her guests, Rebecca and Katrina Hawry, screamed in an effort to attract attention of passing automobilists to his plight, the robbers told Kohler to put on full speed. He obeyed. After they had turned the corner one of the men forced him to leave the driver's seat.

Thrown Out of Auto.

At Orchard street and Webster avenue Kohler was relieved of his watch and $12 and thrown out into the street. He told the Hudson avenue police that the man who took the wheel from him drove so recklessly that he smashed into a rock pile and damaged a fender on the automobile. The robbers did not attempt to beat him, he added.

The damage to the car occurred after a motorist, attracted by the screams of the girls, set out in pursuit of the stolen automobile.

WOMAN ROBBED OF $100

Mrs. Minnie Shelton, 51 years old, 1006 North Lamon avenue, was beaten and robbed of about $100 last night by two men in a car who offered to drive her home. Police took her to St. Ann's hospital after she had been found unconscious and suffering from a scalp wound at Lamon avenue and Augusta street.

She said that after a visit to friends on the south side, she was waiting on West Madison street, at a junction she could not name, for a street car. The two men stopped their car and asked her if she was going west. When she entered the car she was given a drink by one of the men, she said. Then her mind became hazy.

Her purse and $19 was found near her body. She said she had more than $100 when she entered the automobile.

THROWN OUT OF ROLLER COASTER CAR AND KILLED

Dale Good, 21 years old, 737 Jefferson street, Gary, Ind., was instantly killed last night at the Miller and Rose Amusement park at Hammond, Ind., when he was thrown from the front seat of a roller coaster as it reached the top of a glide. The car passed over him.

A companion in the front seat, Charles Milbourne, 554 Madison street, Gary, tried to save the youth, but the speed of the car prevented him. The coaster had been in operation only about two weeks. Good was a son of Constable Walter Good, a Republican politician of Gary.

BIBLE ALL TRUE, HE DEFIANTLY TELLS OPPONENT

Hot Battle Rages on Courthouse Lawn.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Dayton, Tenn., July 20.—(Special.)—The Scooper trial this afternoon developed a bitter word duel between William Jennings Bryan and Clarence Darrow on the literal acceptance of such Bible stories as the creation, Jonah and the whale, Adam and Eve, and their temptation and fall.

Mr. Bryan willingly submitted to questions along this line for the first time in the two years he has been leading the fundamentalist movement. At times he was white with anger. His attitude toward the entire series of questions may be summed up in his statement that "I believe the Bible absolutely as it stands."

Punishing Eden's Snake.

In reply to direct questions from Mr. Darrow, he said he believed implicitly that Eve was the first woman, that she was made from Adam's rib and that the snake was compelled to crawl on its belly because it tempted Eve.

Darrow asked him where Cain got his wife; Bryan replied he did not know.

If the sun stood still, as Joshua commanded it, he said, he was not afraid that the world would come to an end, but said "God would take care of us."

God sent the pains of childbirth to women through all the ages because of the transgression of Eve. He could easily believe that the God who made the earth and the universe could make a fish big enough to swallow Jonah, and overcome all natural laws.

When All Life Ended. He believes fully that all-mankind and animals—who were outside the ark were drowned in the flood. He accepted without the shadow of a doubt the story of the confusion of tongues at Babel.

In only one point did Mr. Bryan indicate even the slightest doubt. The seven days of creation might not have been literally seven days of twenty-four hours each but seven periods of time, the length not specified.

"What he could not understand he accepted with a simple faith, not pretending to understand all that was in the minds of those who wrote the Bible, but taking it from cover to cover as the word of God and the 'revealed religion.'"

HOT WORDS EXCHANGED

Darrow and Bryan soon started personalities. Darrow was asking about the snake that had been condemned to crawl on its belly and wanted to know if the snake had walked on its tail before that.

EMIL W. WAGNER, PIONEER BROKER, LEAPS TO DEATH

His Firm Failed in 1921
for $10,000,000.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

Emil Wagner, whose big grain commission house failed in 1921 for something like $10,000,000, but who in the last three years had conducted a successful and already 67 per cent successful fight to pay back his creditors, yesterday found illness and the stress of the comeback too much.

Shortly before noon Mr. Wagner jumped from the fifteenth floor of the Westminster building, 110 South Dearborn street, struck on the roof of the Monroe theater, and was killed. He was 61 years old and had been suffering from facial neuralgia. He was in active business 37 years.

Friend Identifies Body.
It was not until an hour later that the hatless and coatless figure was recognized as that of the widely known Emil Wagner, pioneer grain merchant, known about the Stock Exchange as "friend of the man who's down and out."

Arthur S. Brown, employee of the E. W. Wagner commission house, 129 South La Salle, where during these late years Mr. Wagner had had headquarters, heard of the accident and went to the scene.

He looked at the body then went to the telephone and notified the dead man's widow, who formerly Anna From Rubens, daughter of the late Harry Rubens, one time corporation counsel of Chicago. For the last two years Mr. and Mrs. Wagner had been living in an apartment at 219 Lake Shore drive with their only child, Mrs. Wilhelmina Turner.

The grain broker's widow collapsed when told of the tragedy. But later in the day she rallied sufficiently to issue a statement denying any rumors that her husband's suicide was the result of any new climax in his financial affairs. Still too sick to be seen, Mrs. Wagner, through her nephew, Edwin J. Mosser Jr., told of numerous occurrences during the last 80 days in the life of her husband which had disturbed her.

What Worried Him.
For instance, Mr. Mosser said: "The neuralgia was so intense that at times he seemed to be losing his mind. The acute pain was in his eyes, and about the only possible relief was to treat the eyeballs with alcohol."

"This treatment, in turn, caused a semi-blind condition. Many times in these last weeks, Mr. Wagner could not see well enough to cross loop streets."

Another source of constant worry to him, his relatives yesterday pointed out, was the enormous court fees and attorneys' fees which, he maintained, were eating up the assets of his old concern and slowing down the liquidation.

Of late, his friends recall, he had brooded considerably over the fact that $500,000 had already been spent in the New York courts, and that much of this money might better have gone to increase the 67 per cent of payments already made.

But further than that general despondency, there was no acute financial crisis, both the widow and her nephew declared. The E. W. Wagner Assets Realization company, Mr. Mosser asserted, is in a position to make further liquidation, eventually to the point of 100 per cent.

Called Wife Before Leap.
It is true, the widow said, that just about an hour before he killed himself, her husband telephoned her and made some casual comment on a depressing money market for the day. But he had put no emphasis on the statement, and neither had she.

A letter found in the dead man's pocket, and addressed to Attorney Francis Lowes, asked him, in the capacity of a lawyer, to take charge of a negotiation with the Central Service system, relative to a $150 note which Mr. Wagner had signed for a Herman Oskovitz, which was overdue and on which he apparently wished an extension. Beyond that memorandum there was nothing more.

PICK MEMORIAL DESIGN TO HONOR HARDING MEMORY

New York, July 20.—(AP)—The design submitted by Henry Hornbostel and Eric Fisher Wood of Pittsburgh for a $500,000 mausoleum to be erected for a $500,000 in memory of the late President Warren G. Harding was selected today by the jury of award of the Harding Memorial association.

Three other architects entered the competition. The mausoleum, which will contain the bodies of the late President and Mrs. Harding, will be erected on a site costing $100,000. An endowment fund of $100,000 has been provided. A. D. Taylor of Cleveland, O., has been designated as landscape architect.

The money for the memorial was subscribed by the public.

There was no indication of a personal embarrassment in funds.

As Coroner Wolf was making preparations for the inquest which is to be held this morning at 10 o'clock at Kline's undertaking rooms, 1253 North Clark street, and as the family were planning a private burial at Graceland cemetery tomorrow, friends on the Exchange were retelling the story of Emil Wagner's life.

Born in Chicago Sept. 2, 1864, as a youth he went over to Germany to school, along with his brother, Charles Brentano Wagner, a physician living at 507 Roscoe street. In 1884, at the age of 20, he opened the E. W. Wagner grain brokerage house, a pioneer in the field.

The business grew amazingly; so did Emil Wagner's popularity. On the 8th of January, 1901, he was married to Anna Rubens in a fashionable wedding ceremony at St. James' Episcopal church.

Did Huge Business.
In 1916 the Wagner firm became affiliated with the New York stock exchange. It was a co-partnership comprised of Mr. Wagner, F. Ernst Tietgen, C. A. Johnson and Frank W. Donaldson. During the war the house did one of the largest businesses in grain of any in the trade, handling the accounts of some of the heaviest speculators. Presently it had 33 branch offices and 40 correspondents transacting an enormous business over the wires. More than 15,000 open accounts were on its books.

Between Christmas and the end of 1921, the board of governors of the New York exchange, investigating charges of "bucketing," posted a notice suspending the firm one afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Wagner later said the governors had promised to take no action until 2:15 o'clock. He insisted that if they had given him more time he would have been able to meet the obligations. But the time wasn't given, and the firm went into the hands of a receiver. Two years ago he went out of receivership by agreement of the creditors to accept notes for what was due them.

Then Mr. Wagner went to work to come back. With a large personal following in Chicago and the gratitude of many young men whom he had helped as his only assets, he went over to the Armour Grain company. Later he left that concern.

STRANGE DUEL IN WHICH SURVIVOR DIES AS AGREED

Bravley, Cal., July 20.—(AP)—Mystery and deadly hatred of six years culminated Saturday morning in a weird duel which ended the life of H. Kirk Truden of San Diego. An unidentified stranger who police believe holds the solution of the mystery, is under arrest.

Truden came to Imperial six months ago. He was well dressed and put up at the best hotel. A month later Kirk landed in Imperial, making inquiries for a "man named Truden." He also put up at the best hotel.

Several times the two met and almost invariably came to blows. This morning Truden's body was found with a bullet wound in the hip and a bullet hole in the temple.

In his pocket were two letters, one addressed to Vincent Truden of Forest Hill, Mich. The other, addressed to the chief of police, related that last Saturday morning they met on the highway and came to blows. Ranch hands separated them. Then they drove to a quiet gulley and agreed to fight a duel, the survivor to commit suicide.

Muskegon, Mich., July 20.—No trace had been obtained tonight of the two armed bandits who late today held up three messengers and stole the $33,000 pay roll of the Lakey Foundry company. Western Michigan officers continued to guard the highways tonight.

Scores of workmen saw the two bandits jump from a dilapidated touring car and, at the point of revolvers, hold up the company's messengers. In less than 30 seconds the robbers had the two boxes of money and were lost in the traffic on the main street.

AUSTRALIA SHUTS SHOP TO GREET AMERICAN FLEET

MELBOURNE, July 20.—Melbourne and Sydney are rapidly showing enthusiasm in anticipation of the arrival of the American fleet Thursday. The federal and state parliaments have adjourned and all unessential business has been suspended to enable the whole community to share in a typical Australian welcome.

The Melbourne Herald says: "An inspection of this great demonstration discloses a recognition by America and Australia of an affinity between two nations of different flags. Each nation is a builder. There is a century of difference in 'nationhood,' but already Australia is entering into partnership with America, molding a new world whose center is veering toward the southern seas."

HEAD OF A. F. OF L. AVOIDS ROW OF CLOTHING TRADES

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, has notified officials of the Chicago federation not to interfere between the United Garment Workers' union and the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' in jurisdictional disputes.

The membership of the United Garment Workers, the old organization, is small compared to the Amalgamated. The former is affiliated with the A. F. of L., the latter is not.

The dispute between the two factions developed several weeks ago when the J. L. Taylor and the International Tailoring companies refused to renew a wage agreement with the newer union, but agreed to negotiate one with the garment workers, who put members at work in both establishments.

The dispute was referred to the A. F. of L. by the Chicago federation where the delegates from the Amalgamated denounced the action of Thomas Rickett, head of the United Garment Workers.

FURS OF BEAUTY

There is more in the making of a wrap of fur than just the desire to accomplish a task. ♡ to keep some one warm. ♡ to produce a garment. ♡ Fur is one of the media of the artist; and the creation of a coat of deftly made, exquisitely matched furs is as much a work of art as the painting of a picture. ♡ Whether it be a crisply cut coat for morning wear of slim antelope or raccoon; or a wrap of luxurious mink, broadtail or ermine, covering carefully the most precious of dresses, ♡ it is always, if made by Blum's, an expression of the highest art in dress. ♡ And how reasonably it may be bought! At this time, when stocks are complete and summer prices prevail, no woman who dresses with discrimination can need to be without "the loveliest garment in the world."

LIVE WIRES KEEP SMALL TOWNS ON BUSINESS MAP

Pep Forestalls Effect of Auto and Hard Roads.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

ST. Sterling, Ill., July 20.—(Special.)—The rise of the smaller cities is one of the most impressive spectacles as one tours the Illinois countryside. Good roads and the automobile have increased the sphere of influence of the one street towns by the difference between a buggy ride and a silver drive. Where the town has a group of enterprising live wires along the main stem, the tremendous improvement has brought increased opportunities for business.

St. Sterling, a pleasant city of, say, 3,000 population, has knocked into a cocked hat the theory that where the farmer could enjoy thirty to forty miles an hour transit from his front gate to town it would mean the decadence of small trading centers and the building up of the big towns.

True, some of this concentration is taking place, but so is dispersion. Dreaded the Hard Road.

This city is practically without manufacturing industries, depending upon the farmer. It used to be a trading center with a radius of approximately twenty miles. When the idea of a hard road was broached the conservatives sobbed that a concrete highway would put St. Sterling off the map; that the farmers would step on it and do their buying in Quincy and Springfield.

It has not worked out that way at all. Since the hard road was opened business here has grown. The wide awake business men have made the folk glad to come to town and merchants even report instances where they have been able to attract buyers from Quincy and the Springfield region. Overhead is naturally lower in the smaller communities. The country merchant nowadays goes in for smaller stocks and faster turnover. He has several years' experience in hand to mouth buying and the slump and deflation in 1929 caught him with high priced silk skirts and broadened pajamas for farm hands on his shelves. Except for staples the tradesman today keeps a smaller stock, but replenishes it oftener.

Still Some Sleepy Towns.

Thus the storekeeper in the wide awake small city at least has discovered that the hard road has lengthened his reach as competitor for business. On the other hand some of the sleeper towns are languishing. It is visible to the naked eye. One passes through other beautiful little communities with wonderful shade trees. The younger set, the live ones, want improvements, but they are held back by retired farmers who live in the town who do not want taxes increased. So customers are parking their cars elsewhere; for nowadays a dead town is about as popular with the farmer as rust in the wheat.

A good movie house with two or three fresh reels a day, a few bright lights along the street, friendly prices in the stores, glad handers on the corner, an air of welcome and an endeavor to make the farmer down on the creek fifteen miles away feel he is part of the little city—these are some things that are making the small town flourish.

One Cross Roads Hustler.

The hamlet, of course, in general is kidding. The little cluster of stores at the corners in many instances is slipping. One passes many such. But the filling station and the hot dog counter have helped in an adjustment, and in the hamlet, as in the small village and town, enterprises and individuals still count in business. To illustrate, the largest store in Brown county is at a cross roads hamlet and its business is increasing. It carries a large stock, including farm implements, and it takes in farm goods, eggs, poultry, apples and other products, and good roads have meant not decadence but development.

Police Chief Pushes Drucci Gun Toting Case.

Determined to test the full force of the new anti-gun toting law, Chief of Police Collins yesterday ordered a vigorous prosecution of Vincent Drucci, Sicilian gang leader and successor of the late Dean O'Banion, who is to be tried under the new gun law in the South Clark street court next Friday.

Drucci is the first notorious gangster to be tried under the new law.

"Drucci, or 'Schemer,' as he is better known," Chief Collins said, "should be given the limit of the law. When he was arrested, as a suspect in the murder of Tony Genna, he had a pistol concealed in his coat pocket."

Under the new law Drucci is liable to a sentence of one year in the county jail, or a fine of $300, or both. Had he ever been convicted of any felony, such as murder, manslaughter, or assault, Drucci would be subject to a penitentiary term of from one to ten years or a heavy fine.

MAIL ORDER RUM PATRONS TESTIFY AT JURY INQUIRY

New York, July 20.—(AP)—A list of 20,000 patrons of an alleged mail order bootleg house seized in a raid last Friday and a list of "prospects" found in the possession of one of the agents arrested and containing names of all members of the St. Louis country club, were held for use of the grand jury at the "John Doe investigation" begun today.

United States Attorney E. R. Barker said that the prospect list did not mean "that any of the gentlemen in question would have bought liquor."

Patrons of the mail order house from Illinois, Iowa, and Nebraska testified before the grand jury. They were granted immunity under the prohibition law and their names were not divulged.

Italian lawyers are permitted to continue to practice in Dalmatia, and Yugoslavia. A motor traffic service is to be established from Zara, Dalmatia, to the interior. Other local agreements on local problems also are provided for.

PROPOSES LAW TO BAR BLASTS ON OIL BARGES

In the absence of specific federal or state regulations governing the operation of oil tank barges in the Chicago river, Fire Commissioner Joseph Conry expects to ask council approval of drastic ordinances which he believes will minimize the possibility of another gasoline blast such as shook the north side last Sunday.

Measures requiring all oil barges in Chicago to be equipped with tight compartment containers instead of cylindrical tanks as on the Texas Oil company's Reliable, which blew up, are contemplated by the commissioner. It was disclosed yesterday.

Would Prevent Such Blast.

Nine huge cylinders of gasoline were covered by the steel deck of the Reliable. A mixture of air and gasoline fumes, such as is believed to have caused the explosion on Sunday, would be impossible in a barge containing tight compartments. It was pointed out.

As a further precaution, the installation of tanks containing a patented gasoline fire extinguisher at strategic points in the Texas Oil company's storage yard at the foot of Clay street where the explosion occurred, as well as at the yards of other companies is to be demanded by the fire prevention bureau, it was said.

Michigan Gas Tank Peril.

Veteran firemen yesterday discounted stories that the entire north side was threatened by the proximity of several huge illuminating gas tanks to the wall of flame which followed the oil explosion and resisted the efforts of firemen for nearly six hours. Without a mixture of air and gas within the tank, there could have been no explosion, it was asserted.

WINS $236,076 IN FIGHT OVER AIREY ESTATE

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday entered a decree awarding Mrs. Mabel Ludlum Traub a judgment of $236,076.15 against James H. Channon, who was appointed administrator of the estate of Mrs. Traub's father, Henry Airey. The litigation concerning the settlement of the estate dates back to 1909, when Mrs. Traub, then Mrs. Ludlum, filed suit for an accounting, alleging that Channon had misappropriated about $160,000 of her inheritance.

Two years previously he had turned over to her what was purported to be the entire amount due her. Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis first considered the case and referred it to Master in Chancery Charles N. Morrison. In 1917 he found for Mrs. Traub, but the decision was appealed. Of the total amount, $134,814.35 is principal and $111,762.83 interest.

A disagreement arose between Mrs. Ludlum and her half sister, Leigh Channon's wife, when the former announced her intention of going on the stage. Henry Ludlum, her first husband, was head of a dramatic school.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday entered a decree awarding Mrs. Mabel Ludlum Traub a judgment of $236,076.15 against James H. Channon, who was appointed administrator of the estate of Mrs. Traub's father, Henry Airey. The litigation concerning the settlement of the estate dates back to 1909, when Mrs. Traub, then Mrs. Ludlum, filed suit for an accounting, alleging that Channon had misappropriated about $160,000 of her inheritance.

Two years previously he had turned over to her what was purported to be the entire amount due her. Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis first considered the case and referred it to Master in Chancery Charles N. Morrison. In 1917 he found for Mrs. Traub, but the decision was appealed. Of the total amount, $134,814.35 is principal and $111,762.83 interest.

A disagreement arose between Mrs. Ludlum and her half sister, Leigh Channon's wife, when the former announced her intention of going on the stage. Henry Ludlum, her first husband, was head of a dramatic school.

WHEME TO USE
KAISERIN TO AID
MONARCHY A DUD

German Peasants Fail to Thrill at Exile's 'Court.'

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
(Special to The Chicago Tribune.)

WILDBAD, Wurtemberg, July 20.—Among the folk of this charming Spa of the Black Forest there moves a strange woman—one who would have been an empress in older and grander days. The glitter and pageantry of great courts would have been hers—she a far cry indeed from the tiny little "court" of the women who attend her now.

In those times rich and poor alike would have bowed their heads to her when she deigned to pass down the road in her royal carriage. This empress that might have been, who is little but an exile now, is the Kaiserin, the former Princess of Hohenzollern, crowned kaiserin by the former Kaiser William when he took her as his bride.

Imperial Pageantry Falls.

It is significant of the new Germany that those who once would have worshipped her are merely indifferent now. And this indifference has been a sad blow to the hopes of those who seek the restoration of the monarchy in Germany. For it is known throughout the land that it was to arouse the people for a revival of the monarchy that the Kaiserin Hermine was brought here, with her "court," to dazzle the people with the glitter of imperialism. The Kaiser's own personal flag—not a monarchist flag, is hoisted throughout the countryside in opposition to the new ideas—but the "Kaiser's standard" with the imperial eagle, is flown over Hermine's hotel. In former times it was hoisted only on a castle to which the Kaiser and Kaiserin lived. The people know its full significance—how the monarchists met their first disappointment. The people surely glanced at the emblem of imperialism. The local solons would shrug their shoulders in explaining the presence of the Kaiser's flag in a republican town.

"All hotels put out flags for their most important guests. She and her 'court,' they would say, grinning, 'have a twelve room suite, so why should not the hotel give them the pleasure of the family flag?'"

Refuse to Admit Defeat.

The "court" of Hermine senses the tragedy. The die hard monarchists have seen the ghost of defeat here, but refuse to admit it. Hermine must continue to play the part of empress. An official bulletin said she was suffering from rheumatism. When the people heard that, like thousands who had come to Wildbad in search of health, she was taking the beneficial mineral baths and drinks which Wildbad has been dispensing for centuries, their distrust was replaced by indifference. Another disappointment for the monarchists.

To keep her in the limelight they had carefully chosen an old part of Klump's beautiful Wildbad hotel. It faces the market, where peasants from all the surrounding districts assemble. The favorite of dutiful subjects was not aroused.

"Wasn't her earnings frightfully big?" "Why doesn't she ever change them?" "Are they real?" the people ask.

There was another story as to why Hermine came here. In the capitals of the different German states there were rumors of an impending divorce, with a story that the Kaiserin had fallen in love with a dashing young count of her own age. But the Kaiserin says: "I can hardly wait for the moment until I am back with my dear Kaiser."

don't wait!

Keds-time is here!—the time to put children in Keds and give them real foot comfort—and save your pocket-book at the same time!

Remember—Keds are the longest-wearing canvas rubber-soled shoes you can buy.

And remember too—unless the name Keds is on the shoe—they're not Keds. Every Keds shoe always carries the name. Made only by the United States Rubber Company.

CROWE ATTACKS
CAMPAIGN MADE TO SAVE SCOTT

Scotts at Brother's
"Confession" Plea.

Russell Scott ought to be hanged for murder on Friday even if his brother Robert gives himself up and confesses the slaying in an effort to save Russell's life, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe said yesterday. The prosecutor says he will insist on that in the event of any new hearings in Scott's behalf before the governor or the board of pardons and paroles.

Mr. Crowe does not think it likely, he said, that Robert Scott will appear. He does not believe Robert sent the telegram from Detroit which won Russell a week's reprieve shortly before the hour of his doom last Friday.

But if Robert did send the message, and if, as the telegram stated, he gave himself up and confessed that it was he and not Russell who shot and killed the druggist's clerk, Joseph Maurer, on April 2, 1924, State's Attorney Crowe says it would not alter Russell's position "one iota."

"In the Scott case the state proved beyond all doubt that the brothers went into the City Hall pharmacy to commit a holdup," the state's attorney said. "In the course of that robbery, Maurer was shot and killed."

What State Proved.

"The state proved that it was Russell Scott who did the killing. Unprejudiced witnesses, who had no reason to swear a man's life away, testified Russell had a blue steel revolver. They testified three shots were fired. The next morning Russell Scott was arrested with that revolver, three shots fired from it, still in his pocket."

But Russell Scott is guilty of murder in any case. When any two men go to commit a hold-up with revolvers, each is equally guilty. That is the law. For example, in the case of Cardella gang, one man was hanged who wasn't even there when the murder was committed. The state merely proved that he helped plan the robbery."

Meantime, Thomas Scott, 63 year old father of the Scott boys, did not give up the unrelenting fight he has waged to save Russell from the scaffold. Yesterday the father was in Windsor, Ont. He told newspaper men there he had come in search of his other son, Robert.

The Father's Position.

The father, who is now in the position of appealing to one son to take the place of another as the slayer of young Maurer, says he will work just as hard in Robert's defense as he has for Russell, should he find the former. Speaking of James M. Ball, the Detroit, who confessed he lied when he said he saw the killing of Maurer and that Robert did it, Mr. Scott said:

"Tell Ball that I don't want any man to perjure himself for my boy."

George Sutton, secretary to Gov. Small, yesterday said that although letters and telegrams seeking clemency for Scott kept pouring into the governor's office, nothing has occurred which changes the status of the case.

LONG BANDIT BOSS TEA STORE.

A lone robber who entered the Atlantic and Pacific Tea company store at 2651 North Clark street yesterday morning forced the manager, E. H. Tralberg, to give him $25 from the cash register.

CONFESSIONS OF
HOLDUPS RESULT
IN U. S. CHARGES

Federal charges of stealing from interstate shipments were placed yesterday against Jack Shapiro, well known Democratic politician, Anthony J. Russo, Louis Berardi, Forest Grey, and Mrs. Hazel Brown. Assistant United States District Attorney Edwin T. Feller said the loot of the Shapiro gang may have been more than $1,000,000.

They were arraigned before United States Commissioner Henry C. Butler, who fixed their bonds at $25,000 each.

A search is being made for Mike Spurna, Sam Goldman and another known only as Scarface Leo, the detectives said. The roundup of this entire gang means the clearing up of many robberies. Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker said last night.

From the confessions made by all the prisoners except Shapiro the police and railroad detectives learned that Frank Monaco, now in the penitentiary, was a member of this bandit ring.

PEACE TERMS TO MOORS; FRENCH READY FOR DRIVE
BY HENRY WALES.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
PARIS, July 20.—The Franco-Spanish peace terms were communicated to Abdel Krim through unofficial channels, Premier Painlevé said today after a cabinet meeting.
"If Abdel Krim refuses our offer we are prepared to launch an offensive immediately which will rout the Rifians from the French protectorate and seriously cripple the rebel army," the premier said.
"We are advised that our terms were communicated to the Rifian headquarters at Adjer and a response may be received from Abdel Krim at any time. If he wishes an armistice during the negotiations it may be arranged. Otherwise the French army is prepared to strike, as reinforcements of crack shock troops from France already have reached the combat zone and additional divisions are pouring into Morocco."
Petain Has Free Hand.
Regarding Marshal Petain's visit to Morocco, Premier Painlevé said: "Marshal Petain has a free hand in the military operations, and will remain in Morocco as long as his presence is necessary. He has not subordinated Marshal Lyautey and was received by the Moroccan authorities enthusiastically."
This is believed to refer to persistent rumors that Marshal Lyautey opposed Marshal Petain's presence and that Marshal Lyautey was to be removed as military governor of the colony.
The Tribune learns that the Rifians at Fez have been out by Rifian bands, who tore up the rails, but communications are maintained along the fine motor highway by automobiles and trucks.
Airmen Shot in Battle.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
AIN AICHA, French Morocco, July 20.—[By Radio via Fez and Casablanca.]—The two fortified posts, Ain Aicha and Ain Matouf, thirty miles north of Fez, which had been besieged by the Rifians, were completely relieved by a French column tonight. Two aviators, Capt. Volestor and Lieut. France, were seriously shot.

WATER METERING FACES DEFEAT, FEAR OF DEVER
Opposition in the city council which may defeat the universal water metering ordinance reluctantly approved by the finance committee, it was admitted by Mayor Dever yesterday. The measure is to be called up for final passage on Wednesday. Then the council will adjourn for its summer vacation.
The mayor admitted yesterday that he is surprised and not a little disappointed by the attitude of some aldermen on the water meter program. Unless the council acts to meter the city's water supply, the diversion of lake water for sanitary purposes now permitted will be halted, the war department has warned.

Can You Sell Industry Blindfolded?

SELLING to industry is no game of blind man's buff. Reaching out blindly to sell every factory, offers no assurance either that you will find the real buyer, or that the prospect will be worth while.

To ignore the known facts of how industry buys and what will influence the buyer, is but putting blinders on selling.

With the widespread demand for lower costs of distribution there is need for the application of scientific methods in selling. No longer can the efficient and the inefficient both meet profitably the competitive conditions ahead.

The dividends of the future will be wrested from savings effected by the use of more efficient methods.

Truly this is no time to be blindfolded by past performances or present profits. Smug complacency is commercial ether.

The Direct Road to the Industrial Buyer

In no field of marketing is the opportunity for efficient selling more certainly present than in the industrial field. The possible buyers for any product sold to industry are comparatively few and are definitely located.

To reach them efficiently four basic facts—the four principles of industrial marketing—should be determined: (1) The potential market should be analyzed (2) The buying habits of the market should be ascertained (3) The most direct channels of approach should be employed (4) The appeals most effective should be developed.

Any manufacturer who will organize his selling and advertising upon these four fundamentals will place himself in a fair position to meet competitive conditions ahead.

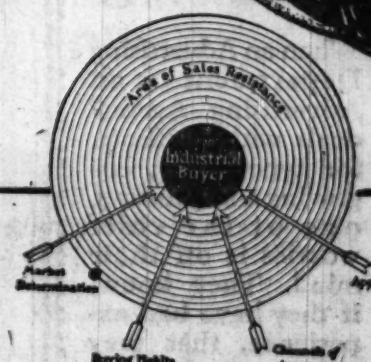

No great difficulty need attend the gathering of specific data on any given market, provided properly informed sources of information are consulted.

To the McGraw-Hill Company industry is an open book. For fifty years it has been a vital part of industry itself. Ever its interpreter, at times its critic, always its friend, the McGraw-Hill Company has acquired through continuous, close contact an intimate knowledge of industry—its needs and its reactions.

A Unique Service to Industry

This knowledge, kept current by McGraw-Hill through the publishing of fifteen publications essential to industry, is available to manufacturers in formulating their sales and advertising plans. It will be a pleasure to assist manufacturers and their advertising agents in their efforts to lower costs of distribution.

As a preliminary, it would be well to read "Industrial Marketing," which graphically covers the results of a recent survey of the buying habits of industry. This will be sent upon request to any manufacturer whose market embraces any of the industries covered by the McGraw-Hill Publications.

The Four Principles of Industrial Marketing

1 Market Determination

Markets should be analyzed, worth while prospects located and effort concentrated on them.

2 Buying Habits

The buying habits of industry are definitely known. Sales and advertising plans should take these buying habits into account.

3 Channels of Approach

There are direct means of reaching the industrial buyer which can be used effectively and economically.

4 Appeals that Influence

The industrial buyer is influenced by certain known appeals. He should be approached through these appeals.

WIFE JAILED FOR HUSBAND'S DEBT
FREED BY JUDGE

Three weeks ago Mrs. Anna Melendez, 4904 North Washington avenue, said she could find the word "sympathy" only in a dictionary. That was when she occupied a cell in the county jail with her husband's debt.

After spending a night in jail Judge Lynch allowed her freedom pending a hearing. Yesterday she was released from the jail.

The judge's decision was based on the fact that Mrs. Melendez was unable to pay the debt of her husband, who had been arrested for a similar offense.

H. P. CRANE'S FIGHT
OVER BOY DELAYED
UNTIL SEPTEMBER

Whether Miss Elida Piza will have to obey the wish of her millionaire husband, Herbert P. Crane, and bring their 6 year old son, Anthony, to Illinois will be decided on Sept. 14 at Geneva.

By agreement of attorneys, Judge William Fulton of the Kane county circuit court yesterday continued the litigation to that date.

Attorney Leonard Mead, representing Miss Piza, declared that her husband was merely trying to "hedge" and that she was willing to let him see the boy at any time.

She added that although Crane has a home at St. Charles he spends more time in New York and in foreign countries.

NAZIMOYA HOME;
CUSTOMS OFFICE
HOLDS UP TRUNKS

New York, July 20.—(Special.)—Alla Nazimova, the emotional actress, returned today on the Leviathan from her vacation in Europe, which she spent in Paris and in taking the cure at Carlsbad.

She declined to say anything about divorcing her husband, Charles Bryant.

"I am so glad to get back to America," she said.

Just at that moment the customs officials started to examine her baggage. From that time the gladness in the heart of the Polish actress began to die away and by the time the examination was over, two of her trunks and a large patent leather hat box were ordered to the appraiser's stores.

Customs officials admitted Nazimova had declared all her gowns and other articles purchased in Paris, but they were not satisfied with the values.

A small down payment will reserve a tract, and the balance may be spread over three years.

The Fort Pierce Bank and Trust Company, a strong, substantial banking institution, acts as Trustee. They will issue the deed to your property and all payments will be made direct to them.

The world's finest and most expensive citrus fruits are raised on Fort Pierce Farms and adjoining property. Enormous crops of vegetables are also grown here and shipped to Northern markets at fancy prices.

Possibilities for profit on Fort Pierce Farms are almost unbelievable. $5,000 a year from 20 acres—$10,000 from 40 acres—these are typical examples. Our illustrated book, which the coupon brings FREE, proves that owners of land on Fort Pierce Farms are now making as much and more!

On Fort Pierce Farms there is no short growing season—no weather uncertainties to contend with. Florida farmers raise bumper crops with a mere fraction of the effort required in the North. Living expenses are very moderate; taxes exceedingly low. You can save most of your income if you so desire.

In justice to ourselves, this low introductory price can't be continued indefinitely. Once the colonization of Fort Pierce Farms is well under way, a much higher price will prevail. Buy NOW and protect yourself against imminent advances. A 33 1/3% increase may be announced almost any day.

If you can't conveniently call on us, mail the coupon below. The big illustrated book it brings FREE will convince you that Independence is at last within your reach. Don't forget that a substantial increase in the price of this land is inevitable. Every day you wait may cost you money. Be safe! Call at our offices or clip and mail the coupon—AT ONCE!

Based on what this land will produce, it is worth two or three times what we ask. Shrewd judges of Florida property believe it will shortly treble in value.

Why do we offer it at less than its worth? Simply to attract land users. Once the Northern farmer and salaried man begins to realize the tremendous opportunities which await him here, there will be a rush of settlers that will send prices soaring.

These are the people we want on Fort Pierce Farms. We want to colonize this property—not exploit it. Hence we have set a rock-bottom price—one so low that most anyone who seriously seeks independence can now attain it. Remember, you have three years to pay.

The Cycle Haven for Members Bound at Home for Summer

By NANCY R.

"The Cycle," that chic Chicago club formerly known as the Biddle and Cycle, is certainly a blessing these days to those of its members who are in town for a part or all of the summer.

There is one of its main drawing cards, and nearly every day finds a party, energetic and in progress on its own. Among the enthusiasts seen there frequently this summer of a week day or a Sunday are the John Westworths, recently returned from a honeymoon trip to the Orient, and more place; Hunt Wentworth, the Edward Harris Brewster, Bertman Winslow, John Holabird, Larry Callahan, Henry Gross, and the Clay Judsons, at present on their way abroad. In the meantime, it offers a cool and exclusive place in which to hold dinner parties—those good old get-together affairs that are the joy of summer and widowers left here for the warm months while their better, or at least other, halves go a-soujournin' elsewhere.

Howard Gillette was host on just such an informal and cheery occasion last Friday evening, when he got up a hurried dinner for Mrs. Philip Wood, who, having settled her family at Marion, Mass., dashed back to Chicago for the week-end to oversee the new decorations for her Chicago apartment.

Mr. Gillette engaged an Hawaiian quartet to play for dancing—such perfect music, I hear, that no one wanted to stop even for a moment. As to the guests, there were the E. H. Westworths, Mrs. George B. Magoun, the William Pittmans, and a good assemblage of temporarily unattached and available bachelors: John May, Albin Browne, James MacVough, Barrett Wendell, Robert Orr, Nettleton Neff, Richard Pope, and Monnie Waller, who's just returned from visiting his sister, Mrs. Waller Borden, at Ilesboro, Me., and his fiancée, Miss Sara Given, at Manchester, Vt.

Day's News in Society

Society was well represented at the opening of the Illinois state championship tennis matches at the Skokie Country club yesterday, both on the white tennis courts and in the gaily decorated canopy shaded grandstands. Miss Janet Fairbank, Miss Beatrice Ripley, and Mrs. Hale Holden Jr. were victorious in their respective matches and will play again today, while Miss Sara Hinde, Miss Jane Pauling, and Miss Marion Clow were defeated in the opening rounds.

White sports suits with pastel felt hats seemed to be the popular keynote in the smart costumes worn by the women playing and watching. Mrs. Henry Bartholomew Jr. was one of those varying from this rule. She wore a dark blue dress and matching hat, and her companion, Mrs. William C. Hubbard, was in a yellow and blue sports suit. Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin (Irene Castle), who is a tennis enthusiast, was an interested spectator, occupying a box at the side lines with Miss Montefiore Stein. Mrs. McLaughlin wore a suit of natural colored wool crepe and a close fitting black hat of mustard color, flashing with brilliant ornaments.

Other members of the smart set who were participating or watching included Mrs. Harold Amner, Mrs. George Dickson, Mrs. Alanson Follanabee, Miss Elizabeth Boyden, Mrs. Edward K. Wells, Mrs. Preston Boyden, Ford Carter Jr., Miss Isabel and Miss Barbara Smith, and Mrs. Arthur F. Tuttle. Mrs. Harry C. Holloway had a box party, her guests including Mrs. Markham Orde, Miss Elizabeth Sampson of Cincinnati, O., Miss Mary Gailhard of N. Y., Miss Ruth Holloway, John Holloway, and Thomas McGlynn of Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. McCutcheon of 1469 Lakeside avenue, who are the guests of Mrs. Charles E. Goodspeed of 191 East Walton place, landed in New York yesterday after a six months' round-the-world tour. Mr. and Mrs. Clay Johnson of 1018 North State street, who are to sail tomorrow for a European trip, met the travelers. The McCutchens are coming on to Chicago and will be in Lake Forest for the remainder of the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw, Mrs. McCutcheon's parents, have been caring for the McCutcheon youngsters. Mrs. Shaw and Miss Frances Shaw have departed for Yellowstone park.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodspeed are to spend the summer on Cape Cod with Mrs. Wilbur F. Goodspeed, where a number of their intimate friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Aldis B. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Rosecrans Baldwin, and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Winterbottom, are sojourning.

Benjamin Wham departed yesterday for a short sojourn at Colorado Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Whittemore of 22 Indian Hill road, Winnetka, are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son at the Evanston hospital on July 12.

Do not use business telephones to answer calls.—M. G. V.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Laughing at Father.
One day my father, who is a minister, had left the house and walked about a block when he noticed people were grinning at him, some even laughing outright. He looked in a mirror and saw his hat was profusely decorated with dandelions and daisies! Returning home later, he questioned my little sister, whom he suspected, and she admitted having trimmed it in her play, and having laid it down, brim up.

Then, for the second time that day, there was a round of laughter at poor father's expense. B. F.

Voicing His Thoughts.
Coming down on the car this morning I was mentally selecting my breakfast.

As my corner nearest I called to the motorman, "Wheat cakes and two fried eggs."

The platform was crowded. "Nuf sed. G. G."

Who's Your Girl?
It was at a college dance. The young man had just been introduced to me, and after a brief and awkward silence, he ventured, "You are from the middle west, I understand."

"Yes, from Indiana," I replied. "Hooray girl!"

He started and flushed deeply. "Why—really," he stammered, "I don't know—that is, I haven't decided yet." R. O.

Wide Brimmed Hats Now Fashionable

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—I don't know what our ideal is—probably the beehive hat worn by the drum major. At all events, a friend of mine writes me from Paris: "Some of these small hats are higher of crown than ever before. I don't like it. I'm only five feet. If I were any taller I'd be part of the skyline."

The lower hat sketched today is one belonging to this soaring group of "higher and better crowns." It is from that eminent French designer, Rose Deodat, and its medium is beige felt. There is almost no brim in front, and what there is in the back is sharply turned up. Thereby hangs a tale. That cute little cuff becomes the pre-occupation for the smartest of trimming touches—a beige goldsmith ornament attached to a band of dark brown grosgrain ribbon which is also used as a band around the crown.

Here is the type of hat which looks well with our suit, our coat dress or our simpler type of printed frock. We are almost obliged to include such a bonnet in our summer wardrobe. But fortunately for those who look their worst in this kind of hat, the big hat is back and it is back with a vengeance.

Take, for example, the tailored version of printed materials which are almost obligatory at present. If you are wearing one of these, the proper accompaniment is either Bangkok or felt with an extremely wide brim. Sometimes it is wide all around, but the newest and smartest effect is one which shortens both back and front to contrast with extended sides. Hair hats are also seen in this connection, but when they are, they surrender all trimming to the ideal of the plain velvet band around the crown which distinguishes the wide-brimmed Bangkok.

For more formal afternoon wear the hat is an obligation and then it permits much greater ornamentation of effect. Thus, the white horsehair model sketched here shows white silk roses accompanied by black lacquer leaves in conjunction with folds of white satin ribbon placed above a fold of black velvet.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

An Appeal for Foreign Stamps.

"I am a little girl 13 years old. I live on a farm, three miles from any town. I wonder if some of your readers correspond with people living in foreign lands? My stamp collection is growing so slowly, and I would like to see the book fill up faster. Do you suppose your readers will help me? We hope you will write in to say that you can help Marion fill this beloved book. We have her full name and address which we shall be glad to pass on to you.

Two Little Ones in Need.
"Has some mother discarded clothing to pass on to two little fellows of 6 and 4 1/2 years, who are greatly in need? Their father, who was in the service, is now dead, and although their mother has remarried, she cannot clothe them properly. The oldest child is to be sent to a sanitarium for tuberculosis within the next two weeks, and it is possible that the younger may have to follow. Anything for them will be gratefully received. "Mrs. F."

Have you a few articles of clothing which your own boy has outgrown or discarded which you can offer to this mother for her children?

BY FRENCH LANE.

Jimmy McGill, Denver sportsman who deserted baseball for horse racing, dropped out of the race when his 3 year old Capistrano won the Geneva purse yesterday. The race was a muddy track, the sort of going the Hand Grenade filly was not supposed to fancy. Capistrano won with a terrific rush in the last furlong.

Conditions were not too good for racing yesterday. Heavy rains had left the track several seconds slow, the weather was hot and sultry, and the rain threatened during a part of the afternoon. A big crowd watched the card decided, however, and followers of favorites took their most terrific trouncing of the season. Popular choices stumbled in every race.

Four Start in Feature.

The changed track conditions retarded the field in the feature races to four starters, and of this lot, Oh Susanna was made the favorite. Mabel C jumped into the lead as the barrier lifted, with Oh Susanna a close second. When Mabel C raced Oh Susanna made the pace during the stretch run into submission before the stretch run started, it looked like the filly, owned by C. Graffagnini of New Orleans, was a sure winner, but Capistrano didn't begin to run until they were in mid-stretch. When Jockey Mortensen gave her a bit of shaking up she came on to conquer Mabel C a half furlong out and win as she pleased by five lengths from the filly, with Louisa Rubenstein third. The going was not to Oh Susanna's liking, and she was far out of it.

The favorite John Q. Kelly was beaten in the opener after he had made the pace most of the way. Mabel C coming up with a well timed rally to lead Treasurer and Climax to the wire by more than a length. Kelly finished limping badly and may be away from the races for some time.

More Favorites Lost.

Eager and May Buddy were easy winners of the second and third, and both were post time favorites. Maddenstown and Battleshoe finished back of May Buddy while the favorite, War Winner, was never better than fourth.

Eager got up in time to head Porto de Oro in the last strides of the third, while the long shot Super King was third.

It was the same old story in the last two races, Mary Ellen O dropping out of it after they had gone the first half of the mile and three-sixteenths in the fifth race, Huban Rouge, Jubal Early and Prosty Boy finishing in Indian file. Nan's fortune had been backed considerably despite the tail end against Eager in the last race and after getting the lead on the first turn, led all the way, with Flying Prince second and the favorite Zealot third.

ained much wheat around Jamestown, N. D. All marquis wheat shows rust damage severely. All other varieties seem to be beating the rust. Crop is maturing fast. All wheat is not more or less from heat and rust and quality will be lowered, but there is no calamity like in 1916."

The Santa Fe railroad's weekly crop reports say corn in Illinois will be 45 per cent more than last year. Missouri will have a good crop and the two states will increase more than is lost in Kansas and Oklahoma.

Australian Loan of $75,000,000

OVERSUBSCRIBED

BY O. A. MATHER.

Uncle Sam's title of world banker was again established yesterday when the flotation of foreign loans aggregating $75,000,000 and announcement of still another impending loan of $30,000,000.

American investors promptly oversubscribed the $75,000,000 Australian loan offering. This is the first time the Australian commonwealth has made a loan outside of London, but the fact that the British government only recently returned to the gold standard and is not able to export such a large amount of capital turned the loan to this country.

The $10,000,000 loan to the German city of Cologne also was reported well taken. An American banking syndicate was awarded a loan of $10,000,000 for the Kingdom of Denmark and an early offering is expected. The proceeds will be used to refund a $25,000,000 loan made several years ago at 8 per cent, whereas the new loan bears 5 1/2 per cent.

Conservative Rail Capitalization.

Another instance of conservative railroad capitalization appeared yesterday. The Interstate Commerce commission announced a tentative valuation of $150,000,000 on property owned and used by the Michigan Central on June 30, 1918.

Excluding property used but not owned, a valuation of $120,000,000 was set. But the capitalization of the road as that date was only $71,475,943 and its book investment account was only $92,425,450.

The Michigan Central is a unit in the New York Central system and the valuation applied to the buildings, equipment and terminals on 1,180 miles of line owned by the Michigan Central itself.

Stewart-Warner Prosperous.

This year's prosperity in the automobile industry has redounded to the benefit of accessory concerns. The Stewart-Warner Speedometer corporation yesterday reported earnings for the first half of the year at $2,466,972. This is equal to $7.74 a share on 600,000 shares of capital stock, or more than the full year's dividend of $5 a share. Earnings for the second quarter were equal to $3.60 a share, and for the first quarter, $2.17 a share. Earnings for the first half of 1924 were $2,099,555, equal to $4.19 a share on 475,000 shares while earnings for the second quarter of last year were only $1.08 a share. The increase in stock was due to acquisition of the Basic-Alumina company.

"Our business is very good," President C. E. Smith said. "The automobile specialty business is more than 150 per cent ahead of this time last year. The radio business is exceeding expectations."

Removal of Movie Merger.

La Salle street was agog yesterday with rumors of a merger of the Balaban and Katz and Famous Players-Lasky corporations. Officials of both companies have been holding conferences in New York. The most persistent report was that negotiations for an operating agreement are proceeding whereby the motion picture operations of both concerns would be pooled under a joint management arrangement similar to that recently effected between the Balaban and Katz and Lubliner and Trins interests in Chicago.

The Brunswick-Balke-Collender company yesterday outlined its quarterly dividend of 90 cents on the common stock.

$50,000,000 Oil Merger

Is Reported in Oklahoma

New York, July 20.—(Special.)—Negotiations have been completed, it was reported today, for a $50,000,000 oil company merger in the Midcontinent field. The merger, it is understood, will embrace the Independent Oil and Gas company, the Waite Phillips company, and the Texoma Oil and Refining company. A new corporation will acquire the assets of the three existing companies. It will be known as the Independent and probably will sell well below the amount of $10,000,000 or thereabouts to finance the deal and provide working capital.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, July 20.—COTTONSEED OIL.—Market was irregular today, with traders' prices up in advance of the census report. Nearby deliveries closed 26 1/2 cents higher and late months unchanged to 1 cent lower. Futures of 700 bbls were put out, some of which was sold. The time was 4.700 bbls. Prime grade nominal; prime number put out, 11.400 bbls; September closed 11.77; October, 11.40; December, 10.94; January, 10.97; all bid.

COTTON MARKETS.

Cotton trading was light and the movement of values narrow. Crop reports suggested around 72 as the condition, and more than 14,000,000 bales. Texas reported tenders of 190 to 104. Western Texas and New Mexico have the Texas prospects are doubtful. At the close Chicago was unchanged to 2 points higher, and other markets 3 points higher to 5 points lower. Spots were 5 points lower to unchanged. Prices in leading markets follow:
